Cookies Policy

14. What is a cookie?
 - 14.1. We use cookies (small text files) to monitor browsing preferences in order to make a user's experience more efficient and to provide us with the basic visitor statistics for analysis.
 - 14.2. A cookie is a small amount of data, which often includes a unique identifier that is sent to your computer, tablet or mobile phone (referred to here as a "device") browser from a website's computer and is stored on your device's hard drive. Each website can send its own cookie to your browser if your browser's preferences allow it, but (to protect your privacy) your browser only permits a website to access the cookies it has already sent to you, not the cookies sent to you by other websites. Many websites do this whenever a user visits their website in order to track online traffic flows.

15. How does ECP use cookies?

15.1. We use Google Analytics cookies to collect anonymous traffic data, such as page visit information, where the visitors to the site had come from and the browser and operating systems used. This information is stored by Google and subject to their privacy policy.

15.2. The site also makes use of session cookies. Those cookies are necessary for site functionality and contain no personally identifiable information. They are deleted when the browser is closed.

16. Third Party Cookies in embedded content on our pages

16.1. Please note that during your visits to our websites, you may notice some cookies that are not related to ECP or ECP's contractors. When you visit a page with content embedded from, for example, YouTube or Flickr, you may be presented with cookies from these websites. We do not control the dissemination of these cookies. You should check the third party websites for more information about these. Find out more about third party cookies in embedded content.

17. Cookies and how to reject cookies?

17.1. If you don't want to receive cookies, you can modify your browser so that it notifies you when cookies are sent to it or you can refuse cookies altogether.

17.2. Please note, that you can delete any cookies that are already stored on your computer. Please refer to the instructions for your browser or file management software on how to do so.
